It appears to the Director of the Utah Division of Securities (Director) that Arpeggio Investments, LLC, Trump Alliance, LLC, Stanley Duane Parrish, Stephen Ronald Trump, and Tyson D. Williams have engaged in acts and practices that violate the Utah Uniform Securities Act, Utah Code Ann. § 61-1-1, et seq. (the Act). Those acts are more fully described herein. Based upon information discovered in the course of the Utah Division of Securities' (Division) investigation of this matter, the Director issues this Order to Show Cause in accordance with the provisions of § 61-1-20(1) of the Act.

STATEMENT OF JURISDICTION

1. Jurisdiction over Respondents and the subject matter is appropriate because the Division alleges that they violated § 61-1-1 (securities fraud) of the Act while engaged in the offer and sale of securities in or from Utah.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

7. In September 2008, Respondents offered and sold securities to an investor, in or from Utah, and collected a total of $25,000.

INVESTOR MG

10. In September 2008, MG met Trump while in Bountiful, Utah.
11. During the meeting, Trump told MG that he had been building a big home for his friend, Parrish. Trump said that he had asked Parrish how Parrish had enough money for such a big house and Parrish told him he made money through investing.
12. Trump said that he had asked Parrish to notify him of any investment opportunities in the future.

<sup>1</sup>Williams had passed the Series 7 and 63 exams and was affiliated with the brokerage firm Raymond James, though he has not been licensed or affiliated with Raymond James since 1999. In 1999, there was an internal review by Raymond James regarding unauthorized trading by Williams. In 2000, a Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) customer complaint was filed against Williams.

13. On or about September 25, 2008, Trump called MG and said that Trump was meeting with Williams and Parrish at a friend's office that day to discuss an investment opportunity. MG decided to join them at the meeting.
14. MG met with Williams, Parrish, Trump, another partner of Arpeggio, and Trump's friend who owned the office in Bountiful, Utah. Trump told MG that Williams and Parrish told Trump that investors would make 20% - 30% return on investment.
15. During the meeting, Williams and Parrish presented the investment opportunity. Williams and Parrish said they usually only invested their own funds, but their funds were tied up elsewhere. Williams and Parrish said that this was the first time they were looking to raise money for an investment.
16. Williams made the following representations:
  - a. Williams and Parrish were looking to raise about $1 million in a week to deposit in either a Swiss or London bank;
  - b. The investment opportunity would not be available for long;
  - c. Williams and Parrish needed the investors' funds for one year;
  - d. The bank would pay monthly dividends on the funds, which would pay investors between 5% and 20% per month in profit;
  - e. The risk was whether investors made 5% rather than 20% per month;

- f. High rates of return could be earned from the foreign banks because of the “leveraging the banks could do”;
  - g. These types of deals did not come around often, but Williams and Parrish were able to do the deal because of people they knew;
  - h. There were “unbelievable” returns in similar deals Williams and Parrish had done in the past; and
  - i. Some deals had gone bad, but by seeing those occur, Williams and Parrish were able to navigate the investments better.
17. On or about September 26, 2008, Trump called MG to ask if MG was going to invest with Williams and Parrish. MG responded, saying he was thinking of $20,000. Trump suggested that MG invest everything he had available.
18. Trump said that he had confidence in the investment. He guaranteed the investment would work or else Trump would finish building MG’s basement. During this phone call, Trump provided MG with bank wire instructions for Arpeggio’s bank account. This was the first time MG heard the name “Arpeggio.”
19. Based on the representations of the Respondents, MG invested $25,000 in Arpeggio. On September 27, 2008, MG wired $25,000 to Arpeggio’s Wells Fargo bank account.
20. From September 2008 to January 2009, Trump gave MG updates on the investment.
21. In or about February 2009, Trump told MG that Williams and Parrish were finally able to place the invested funds in a deal, but not the bank deal discussed.<sup>2</sup>

22. Trump told MG that the investment funds were tied up for three months, but MG would get his principal plus interest back at the end of the three month term.
23. On or about February 24, 2009, MG received a payment of $1,250 from Trump Alliance<sup>3</sup>. Arpeggio still owes MG $23,750 in principal alone.<sup>4</sup>

CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT I Securities Fraud under § 61-1-1 of the Act

24. The Division incorporates and re-alleges paragraphs 1 through 23.
25. The investment opportunities offered and sold by Respondents are securities under § 61-1-13 of the Act.

<sup>2</sup>Williams told the Division that the bank deal fell through because Arpeggio would have lost control of the funds and Arpeggio was not willing to do that. Williams said that Arpeggio then invested the funds by buying a triple A rated bond - collateralized mortgage obligation bond - that was going to pay 50% to 100% interest. Williams said he then decided to place the bond "into an account with a partner overseas" who was a princess from Bahrain. Arpeggio invested about $1.6 million in the bond, but has not received any money back on the investment. According to Williams, Arpeggio has collected $1,895,000 from a group of ten investors.

<sup>3</sup>Trump told the Division that he set up Trump Alliance to keep the investment funds separated from Trump's personal accounts. The idea was to have interest payments from Arpeggio deposited into an account of Trump Alliance and then disburse payments to the investor from that account. Trump said that he had not received interest payments from Arpeggio, so he made the $1,250 payment to MG from Trump's personal funds to keep "everybody calm."

<sup>4</sup>Trump has not finished MG's basement as offered.

26. In connection with the offer and sale of securities to the investor, Respondents, directly or indirectly, made false statements, including, but not limited to, the following:
- a. That the risk for MG was whether he made 5% rather than 20% per month, when in fact, there were many risks with the investment, including investors losing all of their principal; and
  - b. That the return on MG's investment was guaranteed, when in fact, Respondents had no reasonable basis on which to make this statement.
27. In connection with the offer and sale of securities to the investor, Respondents, directly or indirectly, failed to disclose material information, including, but not limited to, the following, which was necessary in order to make representations made not misleading:
- a. How much Williams and Parrish had raised for the investment;
  - b. The minimum amount required to invest;
  - c. What would happen if Williams and Parrish were unable to raise the required $1 million;
  - d. That Parrish had a $2,614.62 judgment against him in 2007, resulting in a garnishment.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Captial One Bank v. Stanley D. Parrish, Case No. 060203152 in the Fourth District Judicial Court. (Utah 2006)

- e. That Parrish had a $15,030.00 tax lien ordered against him in 2007.<sup>6</sup>
- f. That Parrish was a defendant in a pending lawsuit against him which resulted in a $20,237.60 judgment. The lawsuit was filed two days before MG invested;<sup>7</sup>
- g. Some or all of the information typically provided in an offering circular or prospectus regarding Arpeggio, such as:
  - i. Financial statements;
  - ii. Risk factors for investors;
  - iii. The number of investors;
  - iv. Suitability factors for the investment;
  - v. Williams's business and operating history;
  - vi. Williams's track record to previous investors<sup>8</sup>;
  - vii. Whether the investment is a registered security or exempt from registration; and
  - viii. Whether Williams was licensed to sell securities.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Williams and Parrish had a failed investment resulting in close to $2 million in losses prior to offering MG this investment opportunity.
